Mother's Slipper.

By Rev. F. Pugeon

Talk erbout kerecting chicken, Makin' um get out to skule; Makin' em tew luv the'r nabors, An' obey th' Golden Rule. All these things I've cert'ny mem'ried (An' I'll not fergit em quick;) With the assistance uv my mammy, An' her slipper smooth an slick.

'Member when a little shaver, Stole some mell'ns with th boys; How we sat right down an' et em; Didn't make er bit uv noise. Some one saw us, told our mummies, Went an' tole em oful quick; Then our mummies fanned our trousers With their slippers smooth and slick.

Used to like t' hav dad tan me, 'Cause he used a buggy whip; Sum times I'd get right clost ter him, Then again, away I'd slip; So he didn't always hit me, An' I'd git off purty quick; But I cudn't fool my mammy With her slipper smooth an slick.

O, I tell you when she got me, By th' ear so sure an' tight; An' husseled me across her nce, How I used ter jump and fight; How I'd struggle, squeel an holler, Squirm an' tremble, twist an' kick; When my mammy fanned my trousers With her slipper smooth an slick.

Years hav gone, an' I've forgotten Many things uv childhood days; Many schoolmates passed frum memry I'm fergittin uv ther ways; But theres things I'm not fergettin— In my mem'ry fresh an' quick, Come th tnots uv my ole mammy An' her slipper smooth an slick.
